

EGPAF transforms operations and saves lives with Unit4 ERPx

The Elizabeth Glaser Pediatric AIDS Foundation (EGPAF) is transforming projects, funding, and operational management across 12 countries with Unit4 ERPx. This visionary nonprofit is using AI-powered enterprise resource planning (ERP) to unify its global operations, redirect vital funds back to the fight to end pediatric AIDS, and save hundreds of thousands of dollars in the first year.

The challenge

Previously, EGPAF relied on separate, siloed systems that were not intended to support a project and grant-heavy nonprofit organization. This fragmented approach made it difficult to determine the actual state of the organization – data sourced from different systems typically led to different answers. For a growing nonprofit with global reach, this was unsustainable.

How did Unit4 help?

- Purpose-built ERP for project-based nonprofits.
- Advanced tools to track costs and manage resources.
- Greater transparency and faster auditable reporting.
- Robust data capture and AI-driven financial analysis.
- Cloud platform eliminates low-value tasks, boosting agility.
